The best and worst of 1990-91

We look back at the season's hits and misses.

Series: The delightful Dinosaurs hatched a scene stealer named Baby Sinclair (left); producer Norman Lear laid an egg with Sunday Dinner.

Movies/Multiparters: Dennis Hopper was chilling as "Paris Trout"; Gary Cole (below) gave us a frozen Custer in "Son of the Morning Star."

Specials/Sports: Schwarzkopf and Foreman delivered a one-two punch; Roseanne Barr and a new football league tumbled.

THE BEST

Looking back at the hits and misses, triumphs and travesties of 1990-91

Roger Prigent

It was the mother of all miniseries: with Scuds bursting in air, newsmen grabbing their gas masks and generals briefing the press, the Persian Gulf War dominated the past TV season. But 1990-91 also brought other conflicts that were fascinating (The Civil War), inspiring (Michael Landon's battle with cancer) and exasperating (Delta Burke vs. Designing Women). On these pages, we celebrate the serious and the frivolous—shows, people and events that impressed, amused or annoyed us.

SERIES

Biggest Surprise Since Bull Run: Ken Burns' The Civil War (PBS) disarmed critics, captured viewers and routed the competition by skillfully weaving the photographs, letters, speeches and songs of a bygone and bloody era. The result: history brought to life with the intimacy of a campfire chronicle and the immediacy of the evening news.

Opposite page, clockwise from the top: John Wesley Shipp as The Flash, Ian Richardson in House of Cards, the cast of Law & Order. Above, clockwise from the top: Teri Hatcher and Robert Loggia of Sunday Dinner, the cast of Cop Rock and (l.-r.) Mark McEwen and Henry Kissinger on CBS This Morning.

Ed Learned to Talk: Cop Rock's singing policemen, rapping street gangs and harmonizing juries left viewers of this ABC series gasping in bewilderment.

Best New Series, Case Closed: Law & Order (NBC). No singing, no dancing—just tough, methodical detective work, followed by shrewd courthouse politicking and some of the most provocative plot twists you'll ever see.

The Twin Peaks Award for Quirkiest New Series: To Northern Exposure (CBS). With its likable collection of oddballs and misfits and its bawdy, laid-back humor, this is a show that grows on you—like antlers on a moose.

The Overexposure Award for Cult Series That Ran a Season Too Long: To Twin Peaks (ABC). With its dwarfs, demons, extraterrestrials and extramarital liaisons, Peaks got too confusing for even its most devoted fans.

The Fred Flintstone Award for Funniest Fossil Foolery: Dinosaurs (ABC) endowed those creatures with amazingly human expressions and a hip, '90s, blue-collar sensibility.

The We Kept Hoping We'd Wake Up and Discover It Was All a Bad Dream Award: To the far-fetched finale of Dallas (CBS), in which J.R. meets his guardian devil—a helluva way to end a once-great show.

The Now You See Him, Now You Don't Award: To CBS's The Flash, for an all-too-brief season of classy effects, campy villains and a catchy theme (by Danny "Batman" Elfman).

Most Indigestible Sitcom: Sunday Dinner (CBS). Norman Lear may have been a master chef 20 years ago, but his latest concoction—a mulligan stew flavored with ruminations on religion—was a chore to stomach.

Best Career Moves: Katie Couric being promoted to co-anchor on Today (NBC); Tommy Mullaney (John Spencer), Zoey Clemmons (Cecill Hoffmann) and C.J. Lamb (Amanda Donohoe) joining L.A. Law (NBC).

Worst Career Move: Henry Kissinger as guest weatherman on CBS This Morning.

Cruelest Exit: Rosalind Shays (Diana Muldaur) falling down the elevator shaft on L.A. Law.

The Middle-Age Blues Award: To thirtysomething, which got deep-sixed by ABC.

The Lighten Up, It's Only a Sitcom Award: To CBS's Designing Women for its distracting backstage feuding.

Father of the Year: Homer Simpson. Hey—you try raising Bart.

Mother-to-Be of the Year: Murphy Brown. Who's the father? And didn't Molly Dodd already go through this?

Most Improved Series: Star Trek: The Next Generation (syndicated). State-of-the-art sci-fi.

Couples of the Year. Sexiest: Hannah and Marty bedding down on Anything but Love (ABC). Most Poignant: Kevin and Marty breaking up on The Wonder Years (ABC). Unluckiest: Farrah and Ryan striking out on Good Sports (CBS).

Most Inspiring Talk-Show Appearance: Michael Landon on The Tonight Show (NBC).

Best Actor (tie): Leonard Nimoy as a Holocaust survivor forced to go to court to prove it really happened in "Never Forget" (TNT); and James Garner as a retired judge seeking justice for a black WWII vet in "Decoration Day" (NBC).

Best Actress: Amy Madigan as the self-imprisoned sister of a mentally retarded lottery winner in "Lucky Day" (ABC).

Smarmiest Villain: Ian Richardson as a political schemer in House of Cards (PBS's Masterpiece Theatre).

Smarmiest Villainess: Diana Rigg in Mother Love (PBS's Mystery!). And while we're in an evil mood...

Slimeball of the Year: Jonathan Banks, who so disgustingly stalked Victoria Principal's little girl in "Don't Touch My Daughter" (NBC) that we wanted to form a vigilante group.

The Tower of Babalu Award: To "Lucy & Desi: Before the Laughter" (CBS), the most intrusive, ill-conceived and unnecessary celebrity biopic of the season.

Best Original Cable Movie: Showtime's "Paris Trout" featured harrowing performances from Dennis Hopper as a homicidal racist and Barbara Hershey as his battered wife.

The Chiquita Banana Award for Most Titillating Striptease: Lynn Whitfield's Banana Dance in HBO's "The Josephine Baker Story," an otherwise half-baked biopic that offered more sizzle than steak.

Best New Faces: Heather Fairfield as the unwitting girlfriend of a rapist in "Sins of the Mother" (CBS) and Julia Ormond as TNT's sassy "Young Catherine." Best Old Face: Albert Finney, rakish as ever, as a lusty innkeeper in "The Green Man" (A&E).

Most Movies with the Word "Murder" in Their Titles Shown in One Season on One Network: Seven, on NBC; also three variations on the word

"Switched at Birth" (NBC), about a nightmarish child-custody case.

Most Pleasant Surprise: "Blood Ties" (Fox), a lively, witty Transylvanian takeoff on "The Godfather" films.

The "I Wasn't Watching, Really, It Just Happened to Be On" Guilty Pleasure Award: To ABC's "An Inconvenient Woman."

Best Tear-jerker: "The Last Best Year" (ABC), in which Mary Tyler Moore helps a dying Bernadette Peters face her final days. Runner-up: "Always Remember I Love You" (CBS).

Best Miss-Movie: "For the Very First Time" (NBC), a bittersweet '60s Romeo-and-Juliet story about a Jewish boy (Corin Nemec) who falls in love with his Catholic next-door neighbor (Cheryl Pollak).

The "Nobody Gets Out of Here Alive" Worst Movie of the Season Award, Network Division (tie): To "Menu for Murder" (CBS); never were so many (Julia Duffy, Cindy Williams, Ed Marinaro, Morgan Fairchild, Maria Gibbs) served so poorly in such a who-cares whodunit; and "Thanksgiving Day" (NBC), an alleged comedy that wasted the talents of Mary Tyler Moore and Tony Curtis.

Worst Movie of the Year, Cable Division (tie): "Psycho IV: The Beginning" (Showtime), a kind of "Norman Bates: The Wonder Years" showed us why he had to murder mother; "Nightmare on the 13th Floor" (USA), a slack excuse for a horror flick, was enough to give Satanism and multiple ax murders a bad name.

Best Casting Against Type Award: To "The Whereabouts of Jenny" (ABC), for giving the sensitive, caring father role to Ed O'Neill (sloppyish Al Bundy on Married... with Children), while the mean, unsympathetic government attorney role went to easygoing, liberal Mike Farrell. And it worked.

Are Those Her Shoulders or Does She Have a Sofa Under There? Award: To Linda Evans (and her costumer) in "I'll Take Romance" (ABC).

Worst Remake of a Hollywood Classic (tie): "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" and "Night of the Hunter," both on ABC and both directed by David Greene.

Best Short Feature We Wouldn't Mind Seeing Again... and Again... and...: Showtime's "12:01 PM," a Twilight Zone-style tale about an office worker (Kurtwood Smith) doomed to relive—and remember—his lunch hour for eternity.

This week on TV: The 62nd All-Star Game

Out of left field Sometimes it's the unlikelyst heroes who hit those game-winning homers

By Art Durbano

CBS is scheduled to present the 62nd Baseball All-Star Game from the SkyDome in Toronto on Tuesday, July 9, at 8 P.M. (ET). Check the local listings for the time and channel in your area.

There are two things everybody knows about Major League Baseball's annual All-Star Game: the National League usually wins, and it's the game's biggest stars who always have a way of rising to the occasion—slapping the key hit or reaching back for the big strikeout.

But the expected doesn't happen all the time. The much beleaguered American League, which dominated the game's midsummer classic throughout the 1930s and '40s (winning 12 of the first 16 All-Star Games), has won four of the last five. Similarly, throughout All-Star history, the second- and third-magnitude stars—the players who aren't perennial All-Star Game participants—have made more than their fair share of clutch plays.

Take last year's game, for example. The hero of that one was middle-inning pinch hitter and defensive replacement Julio Franco of the Texas Rangers. The third-best hitter on a club that finished 20 games out of first place last season, Franco came to the plate in the All-Star Game with two on in the top of the seventh, and accounted for the game's only scoring by ripping a two-run double off Reds relief ace Rob Dibble. In 1988, a solo homer (in his first-ever All-Star Game at bat) and a sacrifice fly from an equally unheralded player, Oakland A's catcher Terry Steinbach, gave the American League a 2-1 victory.

A homer by Oakland's Steinbach highlighted the 1988 game.

Fred Lynn: his 1983 blast was All-Star's only grand-slam to date.

Over the years, in fact, All-Star catchers have had a way of coming to the fore. Dick Dietz played in only one All-Star Game (1970), but in it he hit a ninth-inning homer that began a key National League rally. The senior-circuit stars went on to win that game in the 12th. Ozzie Virgil, another catcher who isn't going to be enshrined at Cooperstown anytime soon, had his day in the sun at the 1985 game. Actually, Ozzie had his day in the sun under a dome, breaking up what had been a close contest with a two-run fifth-inning single; the NL held on to win 6-1 at the Metrodome in Minneapolis.

Cardinals catcher Tim McCarver, now a broadcaster, came up big in the 1966 game at the then-new Busch Stadium in St. Louis, scoring the winning run in the 10th inning—and saving countless people in the stands from heat stroke: the thermometer had reached 105 degrees. McCarver, who will be calling this year's game for CBS, stands a much better chance of getting to the Hall of Fame as a color man than as a catcher, but in the two All-Star Games he played, American League pitchers never got him out: three ABs, three singles.

By the same token, less-than-perennial All-Stars have also accounted for some of the Game's most dramatic moments. As Casey Stengel used to say, "You could look it up."

□ 1964, Shea Stadium: With two on and two out in the bottom of the ninth, game tied 4-4, fireballing Boston Red Sox relief pitcher Dick Radatz looked in against the Phillies' Johnny Callison. Radatz had already struck out five batters in 2½ innings, and the free-swinging Callison was a guy who struck out about every six at-bats. But not this time: Callison pulled Radatz's first pitch down the right-field line and into the upper deck for a dramatic game-winning home run.

□ 1983 at old Comiskey Park in Chicago: Fred Lynn (then a member of the California Angels) capped a seven-run third-inning explosion with a moon shot into the rightfield bleachers. It not only ended an 11-game NL winning streak but it remains to this day the only grand-slam home run ever hit in an All-Star Game.

□ The only steal of home in All-Star history came in the second game ever played (1934) and occurred on the front end of a double steal. The Giants' Mel Ott was safe at second as Pittsburgh's Pie Traynor—at the ripe old age of 34—slid across the plate.

□ And for further proof that the race isn't always to the swift, return with us to 1990 and soggy Wrigley Field in Chicago: Toronto's Kelly Gruber tied an All-Star record by stealing two bases—the first time in Gruber's career he had ever stolen two bases in the same game.

OK, so guys you perhaps wouldn't expect to do make All-Star headlines. Why? "I don't know why it happens," shrugs McCarver, but one reason could be peer pressure. "The most impressive thing for a player," says McCarver, recalling his own experience, "is going into the clubhouse of an All-Star Game. You just look around and here are guys against whom you compete on a day-to-day basis in tough, grind-it-out competition, and for one day they're your teammates. The irony," he continues, "is that here are pitchers that have knocked hitters down the week before—and now they're teammates, too." No one in that kind of company wants to go out on the field and look bad.

Will an unlikely hero emerge at this year's game? If past performances are any indication, look for a catcher playing in his second or third All-Star Game to deliver a key hit (Toronto's SkyDome, says McCarver, is a "very good hitter's park"), pay special attention to the American Leaguers (they're on a roll of late)—and don't be surprised if Detroit first baseman Cecil Fielder has a big game. He hit four home runs in the SkyDome last year, led the AL in round-trippers with 51 and is among the league leaders again this year. The battle is not always to the strong, nor the race to the swift—but it never hurts to bet that way. END

Taping by the numbers

When even President Bush admits he can't figure out how to program his VCR, you know you have a problem. And it's just that problem that prompted Henry Yuen and Daniel Kwoh, two CalTech-trained scientists, to try their hand at a solution. The result: VCR Plus+.

Yuen and Kwoh have created a handy device that lets you record whatever program you want by punching in a multi-digit code. The codes trigger the VCR to tape the program from beginning to end—whether it's 30 minutes long or several hours.

The device itself, about the size of a videocassette, is kept near the VCR and "talks" to it via infrared signals. All you have to do to activate the device is press some buttons. The first thing you tell it is your channel lineup (those stations you can receive on your TV). And because the system has a memory, you need do it only once. Thereafter you simply punch in the code numbers of the shows you want to tape. (TV GUIDE prints them in a number of its 114 editions now and will include them in all editions by September. Some local newspapers also carry the codes.)

Yuen admits his invention was something of a fluke. "I wanted to tape a Red Sox game in 1988, on a day that I was going to be away. But after two or three tries, I couldn't program the VCR. I must have done something wrong."

What Yuen and Kwoh did right was to use a system called the Huffman coding scheme to assign each TV show and its time period a set of numbers (similar to telephone numbers). Then, with a sophisticated version of Morse code, they translated the numbers into a formula that enables the VCR to record programs in an easy way.

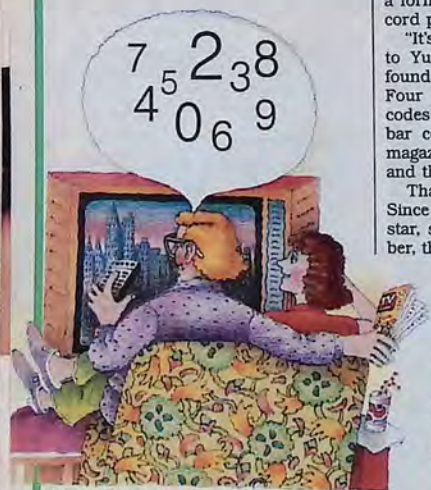

"It's very simple," says Yuen. Maybe to Yuen and Kwoh it is, but others found the problem a bit more difficult. Four years ago, Panasonic used bar codes to create a similar device. But the bar codes proved too large for most magazines and newspapers to print, and the idea didn't catch on.

That's not the case with VCR Plus+. Since Yuen and Kwoh's company, Gemstar, started manufacturing in November, they've already sold a million units (at a cost of $60 to $70 apiece).

And if sales of the devices continue to be brisk, you can count on more and more VCR users to turn into number crunchers.

So, on 6-23 at 1900 hours, I for one am taping 54264/7531. That's 60 Minutes to the uninitiated. Sunday at 7 P.M.—at least where I live. 10-4.

Producers abdicate to the Fresh Prince

There's been a palace coup at NBC's The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air: executive producers Susan and Andy Borowitz have been replaced under not-very-amicable circumstances. When the sitcom premiered last fall, the Borowitzs, a white, self-proclaimed "yuppie" couple, were grilled by the media about how they could write for a show about a black family. Apparently they didn't write well enough for co-producer Benny Medina, who manages Fresh star Will Smith and whose life inspired the show about a kid from the ghetto taken in by wealthy relatives. Medina says he and Smith "felt the Borowitzs were more interested in the jokes than they were in the characters." Another key point of contention: the manner in which the show was handling—or not handling—interaction between blacks of different social strata. Medina and Smith demanded "that Will would have input into the storylines before they became scripts.... The Borowitzs decided they'd rather not come back, which none of us were upset about," says Medina. In mid-June writer-producer Winifred Hervey-Stallworth, who is black, was brought aboard as executive producer. And supervising producer-writer Cheryl Gard is now being promoted to co-executive producer status. Gard is white "but has soul," Medina says. NBC says the Borowitzs have been moved to the peripheral position of "executive consultants." The Borowitzs haven't been available for comment. Among the changes planned for the Prince: he'll get a job and mature.

Fresh Prince's Will Smith gets new subjects this summer.

She'll take Manhattan

Murder, She Wrote heroine Jessica Fletcher will start commuting from the fictional small town of Cabot Cove to New York City come fall. "She'll spend her weekends in Cabot Cove," says

Angela Lansbury of her character, "but she'll rent an apartment in Manhattan and spend weekdays in the city, where she'll teach a course in writing at a university or perhaps a high school." The actress is excited about the new direction of the CBS show. "The move," Lansbury says, "will put Jessica in touch with young people and into the mainstream of ballet and opera." Universal and CBS were considering shooting some segments in Manhattan, but because of the cost, Lansbury says, "We'll be shooting scenes of Jessica coming out of the New York subway in L.A.—at the Metro station at 7th and Figueroa."

Stamos plays his first bad guy

John Stamos, who plays affectionate Uncle Jesse on ABC's Full House, has been spending his hiatus playing a rapist in the ABC TV-movie "Season of Fear." "Fear" is based on the 1988 Yachats, Ore., case of the ex-cons who kidnapped Kathy and Paul Plunk and their 2-year-old daughter and terrorized them, raping the wife, playing Russian roulette with her husband and threatening to kill the child. "It's the best thing I've done. It's the first time in a long time," says Stamos, "I feel like I can say, 'I'm an actor.'" For the role, Stamos grew his hair to his shoulders ("I didn't wash it for weeks"), wore dark contact lenses and had temporary tattoos applied to his arms and chest. Sinister as he may have looked, he says the twin 2-year-olds who portrayed the Plunks' daughter "loved me. If they'd come on the set crying, I'd be the one in charge of cheering them up. I'd be playing with the kids, and later I do a scene pointing a gun at the actress who plays their mother."

Standing in the Shade for now

Elizabeth Ashley, who made her prime-time series debut on CBS's Evening Shade, tells how she landed the role of Frieda: "I didn't have to audition. I'm a bad reader and never got anything I auditioned for. Burt [Reynolds]—who I've known forever—offered me the series flat out. I kissed off my movie career 30 years ago, and this is my first steady job except for some long runs on Broadway." Ashley won a Tony in her early 20s for her performance on Broadway in "Take Her, She's Mine." One year later—a victim of too much stardom too soon—she checked into a psychiatric clinic.

The actress, who dropped out of the rat race when she was 23 and took up residence on a sailboat anchored off a remote Caribbean island, says she'd like Shade to last another five years, and then I'd buy another boat and retire for good. I returned to make money to put my son through college."

Portrait of the artist

Give Jane Alexander points for patience in her upcoming role as artist Georgia O'Keeffe, whose tumultuous relationship with noted photographer Alfred Stieglitz is the subject of an American Playhouse presentation. "A Marriage: Georgia O'Keeffe and Alfred Stieglitz," on PBS July 19, was five years in the planning. Alexander, who costars with Christopher Plummer in the drama, expected to make the project for the big-screen with Maximilian Schell costarring and directing. After rewrites and financing problems, Schell called it quits. In early '91, American Playhouse came to the rescue and by February production was in progress. The actress, who stayed devoted to the project because she's a great fan of O'Keeffe, learned a lot about the late artist's life. Says Alexander, "Stieglitz was a volatile man with strong opinions who voiced them. O'Keeffe was a private person who didn't talk too much about what she felt." Alexander says the couple "wasn't together all the time. O'Keeffe spent half the year in New Mexico, where she was inspired to paint. She wanted to spend more time with him, but that would have been at the cost of her own artistic well-being."

John Stamos: from delinquent to delinquent.

General Hospital star goes country

Brad Maule, who plays Dr. Tony Jones on ABC's General Hospital, has just released "Living It Up," an album of self-penned country tunes. But he didn't warble them in Hollywood or Nashville. "I would have been treated like a cheesy soap actor trying to prove something," says Maule, a former backup singer for Bobbie Gentry. Instead, he went where he got some respect: Norman Petty's recording studio in Clovis, N.M. Petty (who managed and produced Buddy Holly and co-wrote his classics "That'll Be the Day" and "True Love Ways") had plans to record Maule but died in 1984, the same year the Texas-born actor joined GL's Nia Long and "Boyz" costar Cuba Gooding Jr.

GH. "His estate and his wife, Vi, still believed in me, though, so they approached me once again." Released on the independent CMG label and sold via an 800 line, the album boasts a good-luck charm: Maule recorded it on Holly's original microphone.

A long haul for Nia Long

"Boyz N the Hood" opens in theaters this week hot on the heels of "New Jack City," "Jungle Fever" and an explosion of other black-themed movies. Starring Nia Long (Kat) of CBS's Guiding Light, the film focuses on several kids in drug-infested, gang-torn South-Central L.A. and was shot on location just two blocks from where Long grew up. "Thanks to strong support from home, I turned out OK, but I had girlfriends who didn't. Some got pregnant, some lived with drug dealers. They just got caught up in the game," says the 20-year-old Long, who, like her film character, Brandi (a moralistic teen who's not yet ready for sex), was raised by a single mom.

Jim Warren/Bob Libera

GH's Brad Maule cuts a country album.

"Boyz" (a sensation at the recent Cannes Festival) could have sent her movie career into the stratosphere—if only GL hadn't signed her last February to a three-year deal. But Long (only the third black in GL's 30-year history to land a contract) has no regrets. Prior to starting "Boyz" last September, she went an entire year without a gig and got so desperate for work she agreed to play a football mascot in a TV pilot—but even got ousted from that because her weasel costume didn't fit. "There just aren't that many roles for black actresses. It would have been silly to turn down a soap."

A remembrance of baseball past

Fifty years ago this summer, Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees and Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox did things on the baseball diamond that will probably never be surpassed. Williams hit .406—the last time any player has topped the magical .400 mark. DiMaggio hit safely in 56 consecutive games; no one since has come within two weeks of him.

They're just two of the stars of "When It Was a Game," debuting July 8 on HBO. No fan who remembers Major League Baseball as it was played between 1934 and 1957 should miss this one.

A year ago HBO Sports executive producer Ross Greenburg asked ex-players to scour their attics for vintage film. The response: some 50 hours of first-rate stuff, much of it shot with 16mm color cameras that Kodak gave out free as a 1936 promotion.

Reminiscences from the era's heroes and readings from baseball literature and poetry, supplied by narrators James Earl Jones, Jason Robards, Roy Scheider and Peter Kessler, complement the footage.

Among the show's more irresistible highlights: footage of Hall of Famers Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb and Tristram Speaker gathered for what today would be called a photo opportunity; the oldest color footage of the World Series yet unearthed (the 1938 battle between the Cubs and Yankees); and a segment about the game's great ballparks, including Fenway's "Green Monster" with advertising on it, and Chicago's Wrigley Field before the ivy.

Elsewhere in the hour: long-gone ballparks such as Ebbets Field, Griffith Stadium, Crosley Field, Shibe Park and the Polo Grounds rise again; Duke Snider remembers carrying an extra 7 pounds into the late innings—because the era's baggy wool uniforms became wet with sweat; and such legends as Carl Hubbell, Stan Musial, Whitey Ford, Joe Cronin, Pee Wee Reese, Rogers Hornsby, Honus Wagner and Cy Young are recalled in remarkable close-ups. Finally, there's the recognition that before 1947, all the players were white. Don Newcombe recalls Jackie Robinson saying, "I'm going to make [integration] happen"—and he did, for Willie Mays and Henry Aaron and other black stars. That was before free agency and multimillion-dollar contracts. Back when baseball was still a game.

Around the dials

Golf dominates the weekend: CBS has the Western Open; NBC a celebrity tournament that's slated to feature Michael Jordan, Mario Lemieux and Jack Wagner of NBC's Santa Barbara. . . . Tour de France cycling coverage begins Sunday on ABC.

Baseball legend Babe Ruth with sportscaster Graham McNamee.

Johnny Depp and Winona Ryder star in CBS/Fox's bittersweet fable, "Edward Scissorhands."

'Scissorhands' is a cutting parable

Edward Scissorhands: You'll barely recognize 21 Jump Street's Johnny Depp in this imaginative, bittersweet Christmas fable directed by Tim Burton ("Batman"). Depp turns in an original and affecting performance as Edward, the humanoid creation of an inventor (Vincent Price) who dies before Edward is quite finished, leaving him with oversized Swiss army knives where other people have hands. A well-meaning Avon Lady (Dianne Wiest) tries to rescue Edward by taking him out of the spooky mansion he's been living in and into her home. Edward's impact on a pastel-tinted suburban community is both comical and a poignant parable about outsiders who are "different." Winona Ryder is her usual lovely, irresistible self as Kim, the popular high-school girl who's first repelled by Edward and then attracted to his goodness and purity. But it's her younger brother, Kevin (Robert Oliveri), who gets the film's best line: "Can I take him to show-and-tell?" (PG-13 1:40 CBS $94.98)

INSIDER CHEERS N' JEERS

CHEERS

To Fox Broadcasting and the Emmy folks, for having the good sense to move this year's ceremonies up to Aug. 25. In recent years, Fox has carried the show in September—up against the competition's first-run fall shows. Not surprisingly, the Emmys got clobbered in the ratings. Moving the show to a Sunday night in the dog days of August probably won't make it a Nielsen blockbuster, but it will give the Emmys the weekend to themselves and give viewers the ideal chance to check the ceremonies out. If the show still bombs in the ratings—well, at least Fox can say it did its best.

JEERS

To Emmy's arbitrary and highhanded way of putting certain shows in certain categories. Our particular beef: Emmy does not allow Fox's The Simpsons to be nominated for Outstanding Comedy Series. Why? Because it's animated. The actors who supply the voices for Bart & Co. (Dan Castellaneta, Julie Kavner, Nancy Cartwright and Harry Shearer) can be nominated as Outstanding Performer in a Comedy Series, but the show itself is not considered a Comedy Series. It winds up competing for an Emmy against Garfield specials. We're not saying The Simpsons would beat Cheers or Murphy Brown or whatever other deserving sitcom wins the Emmy, but we would like to see the show given the chance.

CHEERS

To ABC, for giving Davis Rules a second chance. The Randy Quaid-Jonathan Winters sitcom about a dedicated elementary-school principal and his wifty dad debuted in the prime time slot of the year—right after the Super Bowl—and finished its brief run in 30th place for the season. Not bad; but not good enough to earn a spot in the network's fall Peaks' Agent Cooper, Kyle MacLachlan.

lineup, despite the delightful work of Winters. Now comes the good news: ABC has picked up the show as a 1991-92 midseason replacement—and is currently rerunning the first season's shows on Tuesdays at 8:30 P.M. (ET).

JEERS

To the last episode of ABC's Twin Peaks. Knowing that after two seasons the show was not coming back, creators Mark Frost and David Lynch chose not to tie up Peaks' legion of loose plot ends but instead introduced a half-dozen others: who died when Thomas Eckhardt's bomb went off in the bank? What will happen to Norma and Ed now that Nadine has come to her senses? Will Ben Horne's collision with the Haywards' fireplace end his checkered career? And, most annoying, how will Agent Cooper (Kyle MacLachlan) remain the show's stalwart hero now that he's been taken over by killer Bob? Given its idiosyncrasies, Twin Peaks was never going to appeal to a mass audience, but it did find favor with a small, devoted coterie who relished its weirdness. In the end, Frost and Lynch couldn't even play fair with them. (END)

Nobody can steal their thunder

Once upon a time all I expected from a morning-show weatherman was to tell me whether it was going to rain or not. And 50 percent of the time he would be right.

Or maybe, to put on airs, he would be a meteorologist, which, as everybody knows, is a person who knows all about meteors. It woke me up in the morning to hear a bracing lecture on isobars (a kind of Fudgsicle) and the latest in bimbo-cumulus clouds.

But now my weatherman must be funnier than Rick Dees, capable of having an intelligent conversation with Joan Lunden, and he has to know about the latest azalea festival.

Who do you trust in the morning for tornado reports and Celsius readings (quick: is it too hot or too cold outside when the Celsius hits 17)?

Willard Scott is the biggest star on NBC's Today show. He weighs more than Bryant Gumbel and Gene Shalit's mustache combined. He has the gift of gab. Actually, he babbles, sometimes like a brook, endlessly. You get a lot of variety with Willard. He is an institution already.

Everybody loves Willard in the morning. But I do wait nervously every day for him to introduce the local weather segments, "even as we speak." For 11 years, four times a day, he's been intoning those words. Is this an obsession or superstition? Did a fortuneteller once tell him as a boy, "You must say 'even as we speak' or someday the IRS will ask you to pay a tax on every T-shirt you get in the mail"?

Mark McEwen, on CBS This Morning, looms as large as Willard. He was a very funny guy when he was a deejay on local New York radio, a little on the raunchy side, unorthodox.

He has the same weather as Willard. I checked.

Spencer Christian of ABC's Good Morning America also has roughly the same weather. I started following the weather with Christian back in the days when he was transplanting hair plugs.

His weather is the cleanest, brightest, easiest-to-swallow prediction that it might rain tomorrow (talk about going out on limbs). He is an intelligent, entertaining, likable fellow, not a somber bone in his body. If only he would leave the jokes to Henny Youngman.

I was happy with Spencer until I saw the new weather tornado that blew in on May 21: Henry Kissinger on CBS This Morning. Was the ex-Secretary of State having a mid-life crisis? No, just fulfilling a fantasy. Add a blond wig and Marx Brothers nose and glasses, and he could be a fixture in the morning.

But I still miss the old days when weather used to be forecast by buxom girls and guys wearing funny bow ties, writing numbers on the wall with their magic markers, even as we speak. (E)

Son's death may muffle Carson's last hurrah

By Stephen Galloway and Mary Murphy
Johnny Carson is expected to return to The Tonight Show Wednesday (July 10) as scheduled, despite the impact the June 21 death of his son has had on the notoriously private talk-show host.

He is extremely "shaken," reports his agent Ed Hookstratten who says Carson retreated to England immediately after Richard Carson's funeral June 23. Hookstratten predicts his client will not mention his son's death his first day back on air—or ever for that matter. That shouldn't surprise even the most avid viewers of The Tonight Show, who have heard Carson refer to his three sons very rarely. Though the four-times married host makes light of his divorces frequently on air, he virtually never discusses his boys.

How profoundly the death will affect Carson's mood on-air is the subject of enormous speculation at NBC's Tonight Show. But the freak accident—Richard (39, known as Rick) drove his car over a 100-foot embankment—sideswiped the reigning late-night king just weeks after he melancholically announced he would step away from the interview desk for good May 22, 1992. Jay Leno, his current replacement, was named new host.

The death most certainly further complicates the already troubled relationship between Carson and his first wife, Jody, the mother of his three sons. Her lawyer reports she was not even told of Rick's death until the day after his funeral. "Carson's people and I were trying frantically to reach her," says Raoul Felder, who represents Jody in her prolonged alimony suit against Carson. The couple divorced in 1963; Carson shared custody of the children.

"Maybe he and Jody weren't close," says Felder. "But they were close to the children."

In fact, Carson supported the sons in large part, buying them homes and securing them jobs. Rick, for example, worked for some time as a production staffer on Amen, the NBC sitcom Carson produced. Rick, a freelance photographer at the time of his death, last grabbed national attention after a 1973 car accident involving drugs. In 1971, while in the Navy, Rick was arrested on a marijuana possession charge.

Police at the Pacific Coast site where Carson had his fatal accident say no initial signs of drug or alcohol use were present. "Camera equipment was found in the car. We think he was taking photos," says Sgt. Russ Johnson of the California Highway Patrol at San Luis Obispo. "He was driving without a seatbelt." Rick had just celebrated his birthday three days before.

Slimmed down role for Rosie

Ratings colossus Roseanne will have a pared-down look this fall, when both of its imposing stars return more trim.

Look for Roseanne Barr and John Goodman to greet the new season each as much as 50 pounds lighter than their 1990-91 season selves. Barr showed off her new figure at her recent remarriage ceremony to Tom Arnold (who has lost 80 pounds over the last few months); Goodman lost his weight for the Babe Ruth movie he made → over the summer hiatus.

"Ideally, I would like to lose another 50 pounds and get pregnant," says Barr. She dropped the weight through participation in an Overeaters Anonymous program and by eliminating from her diet all "fat, sugar, oil, butter, cheese and dairy products," she says.

Although the Conners have been positive role models for love among the hefty, Arnold, a Roseanne producer, says the Conners' sex life will become even more upbeat now that the double bed isn't so crowded. In one episode the couple runs away to Las Vegas to renew their wedding vows and meets up with Wayne Newton.

On another romantic front, the series will continue to explore the relationship between Roseanne's boss (Martin Mull) and his lover. In a twist that Barr hopes will be controversial, she is casting Harvey Fierstein ("Torch Song Trilogy" playwright and himself gay) to play a homophobe. —M.M.

Walker driven from daytime

Not only has prime-time producer Stephen J. Cannell stolen his next leading lady from the daytime soaps—he's going to be seen committing the crime.

The exec has picked Emmy winner Marcy Walker (Eden on NBC's Santa Barbara) to star in his new CBS fall series Palace Guard (she plays a public relations rep on the staff of a swank hotel). On her final episode of the soap (July 26), Walker's character (who has taken on the alternate personality of her dead brother Channing) will fire a pistol at one of the soap's major characters," she says.

Driving Miss Marcy: Walker takes limo from Santa Barbara.

ters and flee into a waiting limo. The chauffeur who will drive La Walker into prime time? Why Cannell, of course.

What Coz's quiz show could cost

This time around, stations aren't likely to bet the farm on Bill Cosby. While interest in the comedian's proposed You Bet Your Life remake is expected to be high, insiders say general managers just aren't going to ante up the same record-breaking fees for the show as they did for rerun rights to The Cosby Show.

"Times being what they've been, this isn't going to set any records," says Janeen Bjork of Seltel, a firm that identifies hot prospects for local stations. First off, new game shows haven't been performing well in the ratings so there may be doubts about even a Cosby-backed hit in the offing. Secondly, buyers may feel burned by their Cosby deal. "People know they overpaid for that program," says Bjork.

When The Cosby Show first went into negotiations, local stations across America coughed up a collective $500 million in one of the most lucrative deals in syndication history. That sort of spending is over, and in fact conditions now favor a buyers' market. For example, stations will likely sign on only if they are guaranteed of Cosby's staying with the show for the run of the deal.

Scheduled for the fall of 1992, the series will be produced by the same Carsey-Werner Company that produces The Cosby Show (along with A Different World and Roseanne). The project, an update of the game show Groucho Marx hosted between 1950 and 1961, would not necessarily interfere with Cosby's completing another season of his NBC sitcom—this fall entering its eighth year—though a ninth season is unlikely.

Will a baby Cheer up Ted Danson?

Cheers could be called One Barkeep and a Baby next season when Sam Malone becomes—gulp—a dad.

"I guess we're going to flirt with the idea of Sam being a daddy," says Ted Danson, the actor who has played the formerly foot-loose and fancy-free Malone for almost 10 years in the NBC comedy (Thursdays at 9 P.M. [ET]).

When last seen at the end of this spring's cliffhanger, Malone and feisty soulmate Rebecca (Kirstie Alley) had decided the childless life was a drag, concluding that they would make ideal parents. Since then, however, NBC has been coy about actually committing to the idea of a kid on the show. But Danson, one of the stars in the movie "Three Men and a Baby," seems to cozy up to the notion.

"It's fun to put Sam and a small child in a room together because they're natural enemies," says Danson. "They compete for the same space. I'm sure they [the show's writers and producers] will play with that idea."

While there will probably be a baby issue on the show, Cheers will continue to steer away from the really serious stuff—like the survival of the planet. To get that message across, Danson, a vigorous environmental crusader who co-founded the American Oceans

Ted Danson likes the notion of fatherhood—and planet survival.

Campaign, must moonlight. So on July 9 he hosts "Danger at the Beach" (PBS 9 P.M. [ET]), the first in a series of National Audubon Society specials that will air throughout the summer.

Danson takes an active role in the special, traveling along the country's seacoasts to interview people whose lives and livelihoods are tied to the survival of the oceans.

And then he goes back to Cheers for a run at paternity.

Making book on television

Many of us watch television without thinking much about what it all means. Now an exhaustive new book, Watching America: What Television Tells Us About Our Lives (Prentice Hall Press, $24.95), explains the significance of TV to us.

Studying programming from 1955 to 1986, the book examines what television messages have been transmitted to us about society—about our families, our work, our perceptions of government, minorities, authority figures. The theories aren't all hot air, either. Drawing on anecdotal evidence from specific episodes of series long gone and still around, the authors track a compelling social history through the tube.

Written by Linda and S. Robert Lichter of the Center for Media and Public Affairs in Washington, D.C., and Stanley Rothman of Smith College, Watching America is well worth watching for—if only to reconcile the cumulative effect of all those hours, all those years, spent staring into the looking glass of TV.

Contributing editor Monica Collins is also the TV columnist for the Boston Herald.

Wimbledon's finalists and baseball's finest

By Paul Drosch
This isn't a bad week, considering that it's July. It's a particularly good one, in fact, if you like tennis or baseball. First—bright and early Saturday and Sunday mornings—there are the Wimbledon Tennis finals (weather permitting, of course). NBC will be at Centre Court as usual. And on Tuesday, CBS has the Baseball All-Star Game. This year's venue, the SkyDome in Toronto, was given its name for a very good reason, so there's no need to append a "weather permitting" warning here.

Last year, as you may recall, the All-Star Game was played in Chicago's venerable Wrigley Field and, sure enough, there was a rain delay. But this week on cable, Wrigley and many other old ball-parks have an hour in the sun, and so will the baggy-suited ballplayers who made baseball truly "America's pastime" in the 1930s, '40s and '50s. When It Was a Game (Mon., HBO) is another flowery tribute in which voices (James Earl Jones and Jason Robards among them) quote poets. But what makes this hour different is its clips: color films dating back to the mid-1930s that HBO claims have never been shown in public before. Many of them are home movies—films of players more than of games—and they're vivid; they connect us to their era much the way that Ken Burns' close-ups of old portraits connected us to the Civil War. "Baseball," author Donald Honig rhapsodizes, "freezes moments and holds them." HBO has done a fine job of defrosting moments and letting them go.

Martin Tupper (Brian Benben), a 37-year-old editor of trashy novels, hasn't been doing so well letting go of his ex-wife, Judith (Wendie Malick). In fact, their adult-oriented HBO sitcom Dream On is based on this premise. But last season, Judith married a saintly physician who was always off feeding famine victims or saving rainforests, and in Sunday's second-season opener a nasty British director (David Bowie) is making a movie about this "Gandhi for our time." Mimi Rogers and Tom Berenger play Judith and her new husband in director John Landis's uproarious hourlong movie-within-a-sitcom; Martin is portrayed by ex-St. Elsewhere nebbish Stephen Furst.

Elsewhere, it's the beginning of the fall season on Fox. Sort of. A few weeks ago, the fourth network announced that it wanted to distance itself from the September logjam, and so Beverly Hills, 90210 returns for its second season this Thursday with a poignant treatise on how confusing sex can be for teens. The confused teen is Brenda (Shannen Doherty), who has a pregnancy scare.

There's also new television on PBS this week, beginning with Alive from Off Center, back for a seventh summer of avant-garde exploration with "Words in Your Face," a survey of poetry that you didn't have to memorize in high school. Next: New Television, a new weekly anthology of the offbeat, follows Off Center Thursday on many PBS stations as filmmaker Juan Downey's "J.S. Bach" meets MTV in eastern Germany.

If you prefer old television (and music performed in concert halls), PBS also has Evening at Pops, back for a 22nd season in Boston's Symphony Hall Sunday with an almost-operatic tribute to Leonard Bernstein's Broadway shows. And on Wednesday, many PBS stations will carry the opening concert of New York's 25th annual Mostly Mozart Festival Live from Lincoln Center. James Galway and Andre Watts are the scheduled soloists.

Finally, more old television—the sort that you'd expect this time of year. And as it happens, there are a pair of notable reruns: James (Shogun) Clavell's four-part 1988 miniseries Noble House (Sun., Wed., NBC), about boardroom and bedroom shenanigans in Hong Kong; and "Andre's Mother" (American Playhouse; Friday on most PBS stations), Terrence McNally's Emmy-winning 1990 dramatic sketch about the coming to terms of an AIDS victim's mother (Sada Thompson) and his lover (Richard Thomas).

And Keep in Mind...

Pam Stone & Thea Vidale (Sat., SHO)

Fifteen minutes of fame apiece (or at least a shot at it) for two funny stand-up comics.

American Masters (Mon., PBS)

Paul Newman narrates this tribute to New York's Actors Studio.

48 Hours (Wed., CBS)

"Driven to Distraction" surveys New York's traffic woes. Out-of-towners will love it.

Living with AIDS (Fri., PBS)

MOVIES

Tom Cruise, Bill Murray and 'Kane'

By Ed Weiner

A week full of "infantile egomaniacs."

On Broadcast Channels

That description, by Nicole Kidman of Tom Cruise in "Days of Thunder" (which we'll get to later when we look at movies on cable), also can be applied to most of the central male characters in this week's movies.

Of the three-and-a-half broadcast movies this week (the half is Saturday's conclusion on CBS of the two-part 1986 hard-times-Down-Under TV-drama The Last Frontier ★★), Pink Lightning (Mon., Fox) is the only first-run offering. It's a ★★ 1991 TV-movie about five stereotypical women—the Nice One, the Pretty One, the Brainy One, the Loose

One and the Married One—coming of age in a 1962 California universe of lunkheaded men who put them down or treat them like personal amusement parks. Though skimpy and predictable, "Pink Lightning" occasionally makes a sharp point about women's roles and expectations in those pre-lib (and these post-lib) days, with an ending that will satisfy feminist longings.

"Last Frontier": Linda Evans.

Same time, on ABC, "infantile egomaniac" is just about the nicest thing you can say about the guy Randy Quaid plays in a repeat of the absorbing, fact-based ★★ 1988 TV-movie Evil in Clear River. He's the congenial, charismatic mayor and history teacher in a sleepy little Canadian farm town—and a hatemongering racist, as well as a Holocaust-debunking anti-Semite. Only Lindsay Wagner stands up to him, despite townsfolk pressure, and fights him from the classroom to the courts.

On Sunday, ABC presents us with yet another small-town jerk—this one gets out of prison, and the populace turns vigilante to fight his return, in the ★★ 1988 TV-movie, The Town Bully.

"Days of Thunder": Tom Cruise.

Friday on NBC, it's the ★★ 1989 TV-adventure Chameleons.

On Cable Channels

What makes Ms. Kidman call Mr. Cruise an "infantile egomaniac" has to do with her disgust at his persistent dumb risk-taking and nose-thumbing at death while zipping around wreck-strewn racetracks in a loud stock car in 1990's ultra-clichéd Days of Thunder ★★ (HBO, MAX).

Were she a regular moviegoer, Kidman might also note that Cruise's Cole Trickle—a cocky know-it-all who bonds with, then forsakes, then rejoins his older mentor (Robert Duvall, believable as always)—is exactly the same character he's played in "The Color of Money," "Cocktail" and "Top Gun." Especially "Top Gun," and no wonder: "Days of Thunder" reunites "Gun's" Cruise, director Tony Scott, and producers Don Simpson and Jerry Bruckheimer in an "if it worked once it can make money for us twice" carbon copy, only duller and more ponderous.

As for copies of "Top Gun," 1990's Fire Birds (SHO) is a lackluster ★ cookie-cutter facsimile of that earlier film. Instead of fighter jets, it's high-tech helicopters, but otherwise it seems almost a frame-for-frame remake. Nicolas Cage tries to be cocky and know-it-all but is just weird and Neanderthal. Tommy Lee Jones is the father figure and Sean Young is the love interest who thinks (rightly) that Cage is an infantile egomaniac.

Bill Murray nearly always plays infantile egomaniacs, and he is always a little mean-spirited, but his humor makes it palatable and even endearing. In 1990's Quick Change (HBO, MAX), Murray's humor is tempered and matured, and it gives this ★★ bank-robbery caper film combined with an I-Hate-New-York theme just the right edge. The joke here: he's a criminal, teamed with Geena Davis and Randy Quaid, who makes short work of the heist but, because of the frustrations of New York City, can't find his way out of town. The movie loses its way, too, but Murray is totally in control, showing a richer, darker side of his stock character.

Finally, though it is making a triumphant return to movie theaters this summer on this, its 50th anniversary, Orson Welles' Citizen Kane ★★★★★ (insert string of your favorite superlatives here) is being shown on AMC this week. Need we remind you that it is perhaps the quintessential infantile egomaniac film?

SOAP OPERA GUIDE™

In case you missed out on your favorite soaps, here's an update on what's been happening.

By Susie Wetmore and Tom Mitchell

All My Children

The week of July 1, Janet dressed up as Natalie and fantasized about seducing Trevor. During a tearful visit with her mother, Ceara forgave her for keeping silent about the incest Ceara endured. Emily Ann refused psychiatric help.

Another World

John and Sharlene sought answers to questions about Taylor. Kathleen couldn't tell Cass what she knows about Frankie, and Frankie vowed to get Cass back. Suspicious of Jake and Paulina, Iris had an assignment for Mark. Jake rocked Paulina with another request.

As the World Turns

Julie, suffering from postpartum depression last week, decided to put her baby up for adoption, but Andy had another idea. Later, Julie learned the baby's paternity. Kirk tried to get back into Ellie's good graces after the takeover.

Bold and the Beautiful

Last week, Eric's announcement at Stephanie's Fourth of July party left Taylor shocked and angry with Ridge. Macy, hoping to save her marriage, said goodbye to Jake. In Hawaii, both Sally

As the World Turns:
Susan Marie Snyder and Scott DeFreitas.

and Julie came to startling realizations.

Days of Our Lives

This week, the switched blood samples keep Bo's illness a secret, and Kimberly stays determined to get the cure. Jack and Jennifer have a Hollywood honeymoon, while Africa awaits Frankie and Eve. But Eve has business to settle in L.A. first.

General Hospital

It was one thing after another for Robert and Anna last week, as the two departed for a hectic honeymoon. Dominique opened up to Mac, but not entirely—hers is a painful story to tell. Ned and Jenny looked at each other in a new way.

Guiding Light

Last week, Alex kept busy trying to nail Roger. Mallet was hammered by Marco and his men, and the result was ugly. Kat and Bridget agreed to make it a hot summer. And with Nadine on the way, Vanessa confronted Billy at Cross Creek.

Loving

Clay was taken to the police station last week. Trisha, meanwhile, had mixed emotions over her father's arrest. Later, someone tried to set Clay up by planting a syringe in his desk drawer. Ava and Louie learned that Paul would survive—but he'll be paralyzed.

One Life to Live

Last week, Kevin sought his family's help to get Stephanie out of Carlo's clutches; but Carlo kept playing keep-away with Kevin. Cassie bought Alex's lie. Tina and Cord wondered about Julia: why did she lie? And the verdict came in on Renee.

Santa Barbara

This week, Cruz decides to help Warren Lockridge (Jack Wagner) escape the Bangkok prison where he awaits execution. Back home, Augusta books a flight to Singapore, as do Cassandra and Mason. Dash calls a press conference. Julia is reunited with law-school teacher David Manchester (John Beck).

Young and the Restless

Last week, Sheila feared that her mother might blab about the baby-swapping. Lauren also had suspicions and vowed to learn what Sheila is hiding. David took revenge on Cricket and put the moves on Flo. Leanna ended up in the pool at John's party.

Tweaking Twin Peaks one last time

I had the same reaction watching the last episode of Twin Peaks that I have had all during this final season: the program lost its sense of humor and sense of direction. The bizarre visuals became predictable, boring and headache-inducing. More importantly, the writing became very pedestrian, losing its satiric edge and resorting to pathetic comic situations (i.e. the "Miss Twin Peaks" contest).

Andy Dursin
Gloucester, R.I.

A cliffhanger for a canceled series? How could David Lynch play such a nasty trick on all of the Peaks freaks? What happens to Agent Cooper? Did Benjamin Horne die? Does Leo escape the deadly spiders? Will we ever find out?

Dan Benge
Otisville, N.Y.

Speaking of cliffhangers...

In your June 8 "Cheers 'n' Jeers" column, you came down on some network shows for overuse of the season-ending cliffhanger. While we're on the subject, the makers of NBC's ALF deserve a belated jeer for ending the series last year with a cliffhanger. ALF's fans must still be wondering what became of him.

When bad things happen to good people

Though I admire Michael Landon's courage, there are thousands of ordinary people with cancer and other diseases who are also courageous and equally deserving of recognition. Though celebrities get the publicity, I'm more impressed with an ordinary person's quiet, unassuming but steadfast fight to stay alive and to die with dignity ("How Michael Landon's Brave Struggle with Cancer Has Inspired America," June 8).

May the force be with her

Sorry if this letter seems late, but for the last six weeks I've been on location in Paris. I was saddened to learn of Emily McLaughlin's passing in the pages of your magazine ("Soaps: McLaughlin Remembered," May 25). One of my first professional jobs was a nine-month run playing opposite her as Nurse Jessie Brewer's nephew, Kent Murray, on General Hospital. She was one of the kindest, most gracious and compassionate people I've ever worked with. I'll miss her always.

Reading, writin' and regular viewing...

Jeers to TV GUIDE for following up the reference to Jaleel White and Mayim Bialik's plans to catch up on schoolwork this summer with "Ugh!" on your June 1 cover ("How Stars Are Spending Their Summer Vacations"). Isn't it bad enough that television... distracts nearly every American child from the education process for several hours a day? Now TV GUIDE has to bad-mouth education in general. If you want future generations to acquire the literacy required to read your magazine, you ought to be promoting education.

B.G. Walker
Morristown, N.J.

[Far from "bad-mouthing education," TV GUIDE has always been quick to point out TV's enormous potential as a teaching tool. We salute any effort made by broadcasters to use the medium to enrich viewers' minds. In our June 22 issue, for example, we cheered Bravo for its "Culture in the Classroom" program.—Ed.]

THE ALL ENGLAND TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

The women's and men's finals at the All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club's annual tournament, telecast live from Centre Court in suburban London.

The All England Club was established on Worple Road in 1869 as strictly a club for croquet, but in 1875, a rectangle of grass was set aside for the growing sport of lawn tennis. Two years later, before some 200 spectators, Spencer Gore became the first Wimbledon tennis champion. (Maud Watson became the first women's titlist in 1884.) The following championships were decided by a system in which the defending champ met the winner of all the preliminary matches. The current format was adopted in 1921, the same year the club moved to its present location on Church Road.

This year, 400,000 fans are expected to gather at Wimbledon during the fortnight, observing its traditions... strawberries and cream; royal box-watching; tabloid headlines; and "predominantly white attire." And, of course, the unique grass-court competition.

Dick Enberg, Jimmy Connors, Chris Evert, Bud Collins, John Tesh and Tracy Austin report.

Sunday GUIDELINES

☐ The men's championship match is on today's Wimbledon Tennis schedule. See the Close-up on p. 37. —9 AM (3) (4); 12:30 PM (4)

☐ A Capitol Fourth 1991: The traditional Independence Day gala from Washington, D.C. includes a George M. Cohan medley from Joel Grey. —5:30 PM (12)

☐ All in the Family: Before they moved on up to Manhattan's East Side, TV's The Jeffersons moved next door to the Bunkers. As shown in this vintage episode, that didn't sit too well with Archie. —8 PM (10) (2)

☐ Movie: Tom Cruise reteamed with "Top Gun" director Tony Scott, as well as producers Don Simpson and Jerry Bruckheimer, for 1990's "Days of Thunder," a ★★ vehicle about stock-car racing. —8 PM (HBO)

☐ Over the next four nights, NBC is repeating the lavish 1988 adaptation of James Clavell's Noble House. The eight-hour miniseries stars Pierce Brosnan. —9 PM (3) (4) (4)

☐ The Birth of Europe, a detailed seven-part BBC series exploring the continent's development, opens as Europe comes "Out of the Ice." —9 PM, 1 AM [Early Mon.] (A&E)

☐ Dream On, director John Landis's sitcom for grown-ups about life after marriage for pulp-fiction editor Martin Tupper (Brian Benben), opens its second season with a witty hourlong "movie" about his ex-wife's saintly second husband. Tom Berenger, David Bowie and Mimi Rogers are the guest stars. —10 PM (HBO)

Monday GUIDELINES

☐ C. Everett Koop, M.D. concludes his thought-provoking series with a plea to reform our "chaotic" health-care system. —9 AM (3)

☐ A spectacular fire aboard an elegant floating restaurant highlights Part 2 of the visually sumptuous Noble House. —9 PM (3) (4) (4)

☐ Movie: A fact-based 1988 TV-drama, "Evil in Clear River" ★★, stars Lindsay Wagner as a mother who discovers that a small-town mayor and high-school teacher (Randy Quaid) is a closet bigot and racist. —9 PM (6) (7)

☐ There are many things cheerier than to wake up in Siberia, but in an exciting Adventure, an American naturalist named Robert Perkins does just that. —9 PM (12)

☐ American Masters: Acting's the thing as Actors Studio president Paul Newman hosts this tribute to New York City's venerable "temple of the Method." —9 PM (13) (39); 10 PM (12) (23) (52); 4 AM [Early Tues.] (13)

☐ HBO's baseball nostalgiafest When It Was a Game uses recently unearthed color clips (many of them home movies taken by players) to recall "America's pastime" in the 1930s, '40s and '50s. The clips are stunning. See the Close-up on p. 88. —10 PM (HBO)

☐ Movie: "The Night of the Grizzly" ★★. Clint Walker, who was a real-life deputy sheriff before making his mark in the movies, plays a lawman who hangs up his guns and takes up ranching in Wyoming in this 1966 oater. —10:15 PM (TNT)

Lou Gehrig

Baseball in the days before free agency, artificial turf and billion-dollar TV contracts.

The key to this lyrical tribute is its color clips—many of them home movies taken by players themselves. It begins with the 1934 World Series and ends when the Dodgers and Giants left New York in 1957. In between: Joe DiMaggio ("the ultimate ballplayer") and his archival, "the dour, difficult and superb" Ted Williams; Jackie Robinson's breaking of the color barrier; and the precarious nature of life for most players. "We played to win," remembers Billy Herman, "and if that wasn't good enough you'd go back home, get a lunch pail and go to work." (60 min.)

HERE'S HOW TO GET YOUR 6 MOVIES FOR 69¢ EACH...

Just write in the numbers of the 6 movies you want for 69¢ each, plus shipping and handling. In exchange, you agree to buy just six more movies in the next three years, at our Regular Club Prices (which currently start as low as $29.95, plus shipping and handling)—and you may cancel membership at any time after doing so. What's more, you can get still two more movies at savings of up to 85% and have much less to buy later (see complete details in coupon at the right).

Free Video Magazine sent every four weeks (up to 13 times a year), reviewing our Director's Selection—plus scores of alternate movies, including many lower-priced cassettes, down to $14.95. And you may receive Special Selection mailings up to four times a year (total of up to 17 buying opportunities).

Buy only what you want! If you want the Director's Selection, do nothing—it will be sent automatically. If you'd prefer an alternate selection, or none at all, just mail the response card always

TV GUIDE'S MOVIE RATINGS

For our readers' guidance, TV GUIDE rates movies excellent (★★★★), good (★★★), fair (★★) or poor (★). Our evaluations are based on a number of factors, including a consensus of leading critics, quality of cast and director, awards earned and box-office performance. TV GUIDE does not evaluate movies (signified by an absence of symbols) if a rating might be premature (example: an unscreened TV-movie) or pointless (example: a formula B-Western), or if too few facts are known (example: a minor foreign film). Movies may be edited for television; our ratings are based on the original, complete film.

Friday GUIDELINES

☐ Movie: Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers headline 1937's "Stage Door" ★★★★★, a witty, insightful behind-the-curtain character study of life in a theatrical boardinghouse for women. —7 PM, 12:30 AM [Early Sat.] (ABC)

☐ Vietnam vet Roger Ligon claims that "it was something from Southeast Asia . . . not me" that prompted a 1989 shooting. A compelling edition of Verdict documents his manslaughter trial. —8 PM (10 2)

☐ Family Matters reprises its meaningful Yuletide episode in which Steve makes like the ghost of Christmas past when he overstays his welcome at the Winslows. —8:30 PM (6 7)

☐ A salute to the late Leonard Bernstein, featuring songs from "West Side Story," "Candide" and other Bernstein musicals, kicks off the 22nd season of Evening at Pops. John Williams and the Boston Pops are joined by host Beatrice Arthur and other performers. See the Close-up on p. 167. —9 PM (12)

☐ CBS's "Crime Time After Prime Time" relocates to prime time with Sweating Bullets, starring Rob Stewart and Carolyn Dunn as mismatched PIs in the Florida Keys. —10 PM (10 2)

☐ Movie: Based on a novel by Erich Maria Remarque, who wrote the antiwar classic "All Quiet on the Western Front," 1958's ★★★★★ "A Time to Love and a Time to Die" is an apology for German soldiers involved in WWII. Remarque also plays a bit part as a high-school teacher. John Gavin stars. —10:15 PM (TNT)

HOROSCOPE

By Patric Walker

ARIES (March 21-April 20): Although the coming week may begin on a rather confused and uncertain note, not for a second must you imagine the tide of fortune has turned against you. It is just that whether your current problems be of a personal nature or related to your career, victory belongs to the most persevering.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21): Neptune in Capricorn tends to create flights of fantasy. Therefore, delay all important decisions until around the time of the solar eclipse on the 11th when partner's or close companions' insights, perceptions and guidance over longterm plans, ideas or projects will prevent you from getting stranded.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21): Others' caustic remarks and decidedly cavalier attitudes over finances, investments or commitments must be making you wonder if you really have backed an all-time loser. However, a brilliant aspect between the Sun and Pluto on Wednesday and a solar eclipse on Thursday both signify the tide of fortune is about to turn in your favor.

CANCER (June 22-July 23): Because the solar eclipse on Thursday takes place in your own birth sign you may well feel your personal world is being turned upside down. But somewhere along the line you are bound to discover that one of the many funny things about life is this—if you refuse to accept anything but the best, you very often get it.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23): There is a lot to be said for letting bygones be bygones—even if it means letting a colleague off the hook. The second half of 1991 promises to be a time of both personal and professional recognition and achievement for you, so why concern yourself with what is water under the bridge?

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23): The worst thing you can do this week is worry about what you could have done. Loved ones, offspring or close companions have chosen to ignore your advice or warnings. Therefore, Thursday's solar eclipse in Cancer is the signal for you to set about realizing your own goals, aims or ambitions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23): You may be heartily sick of reference to the state of play on the home front and the need to get your house in order. However, if you are to enjoy the kind of praise, recognition and status symbols Thursday's solar eclipse promises to provide, then you really must streamline or reorganize your domestic situation this week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22): Like Cancerians and Pisceans, you are one of the main beneficiaries of this week's solar eclipse. Therefore, cast your net that much wider, broaden your horizons and take the wind right out of the sails of those who imagine that you are far too inhibited or insecure to take a gamble—personally or professionally.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): Last week you were urged to find the gold among the sand. Now, however, it should be staring at you. The solar eclipse on Thursday takes place in that part of your solar chart related to all joint financial arrangements, business, legal and tax matters and the time has come to demand payment in full.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): Thursday's solar eclipse relates to the one that took place in your own birth sign on Jan. 15. Now, however, you are a much wiser and stronger individual and therefore not likely to be fazed or thwarted by extreme partnership difficulties. In fact, you could well be the one who issues an ultimatum. At any rate, this should be a totally banner week for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19): Although this is still very much a time of power struggles, rumors, intrigue and uncertainty on the work front, on no account waver or lose your confidence. Thursday's solar eclipse and a stunning aspect to Pluto both signify that some kind of promotion, recognition or important new deal is now yours for the asking.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20): This appears to be a make-or-break time as far as one emotional tie or important attachment is concerned. No matter. By all the laws of astrology you should be at your most alert, astute and self-assured—so much so, in fact, you may now decide to take that first brave step you have been talking about for months.
